Palliative care evening for primary care 2024

Wednesday 20 March 2024

Brisbane North PHN is pleased to invite all primary care professionals to join us for an evening of education and networking.

Held during National Advance Care Planning Week, this event aims to increase the primary care workforce awareness of palliative care services and supports available in the Brisbane North PHN region.

The program includes education over a three-course meal, networking, and an exhibition of featured available services and supports. The presentation will provide helpful guidance and tips on managing palliative care from the perspective of general practice in the Brisbane North PHN region, from diagnosis to end of life care.

Primary care teams are fundamental to the delivery of at-home palliative care. With the current establishment of 32 palliative care projects available to people in the Brisbane North PHN region, there are many services and supports available to benefit professionals and their patients alike. This event will connect attendees with these key projects.

The palliative care evening for primary care 2024 will provide professional development, networking, and take-home resources all in one evening.

95 per cent of participants in 2023 said they would recommend the event to their colleagues

This event is supported by the Department of Health and Aged Care under the Greater Choice for At Home Palliative Care measure. There is no cost to attend for professionals living and/or working in the Brisbane North PHN region.
